

ServSafe Alcohol Program Roll-Out Guidelines:

WISCONSIN

In Wisconsin, responsible alcohol service training is mandatory. Applicants for an operator's license must have completed a responsible alcohol service training program. ServSafe Alcohol® is an approved program in Wisconsin. There are some exceptions which can be found at <https://www.revenue.wi.gov>.

In order to teach the ServSafe Alcohol course in the State of Wisconsin you must:

- Pass the ServSafe Alcohol Primary Wisconsin exam.
- Be an approved ServSafe Alcohol Instructor (Instructors must order the Wisconsin version of the paper exam booklet).
- Obtain the Wisconsin Supplement from ServSafe.com under the Alcohol Instructor Resource Center or via the content within the WI SSA Online Course.
- Learn Wisconsin tobacco vending laws by completing the Wisconsin Tobacco online course & exam – For more information, please visit: <https://witobaccocheck.org/exam/start?trainingId=7398.ServSafe%20Alcohol%20Instructors> – you should have your class participants complete this either before your training with proof of completion or at the training.
- Apply for an Operator's (bartender's) license with your local municipality. For more information, click here.
- Give the Wisconsin Exam and return answer sheets to the National Restaurant Association for grading.
